TREATMENT FOR SCARLET FEVER

Montreal Milk Supply Severely Criticised.

BACTERIOLOGISTS

Tropical Diseases Discussed By Dr. Todd. — "Cheap Milk Means Dirty Milk," Says Prof. Harding. — Dr. Ferry's Discovery.

The discovery of a cure for scarlet fever was announced to the Society of American Bacteriologists at their meeting in the new Medical Building last Friday. Dr. Ferry, of Detroit, said the discovery would result in the practical elimination of the worst terrors of childhood. He said he had found the germ which he believed has caused the disease. He had tried immunising the nurse in the Diseases Hospital, and found that the result was an entire disappearance of the disease. When immunising was discontinued for three months, several nurses contracted scarletina. Dr. Ferry offered his discovery to the members of the conference for further test.

Dr. Todd, of McGill, in a paper on diseases in the tropics, stated that while natives seemed practically free from them, foreigners who came to a tropical country were almost immediately stricken. He said this was the case especially with malaria.

In the session at Macdonald College on Thursday, the city milk question was gone into. Prof. Harding, of Illinois University, said that milk sold in cities was dirty, because people wanted cheap milk, and the farmer responded with the dirtiest milk marketable. He said environmental conditions in the process of obtaining and distributing milk were more important than the question of bacteria in it. Milk was influenced by environment and heredity. If the consumers want better milk, he said, they must pay for it.

Professor Harrison, principal of Macdonald College, called the milk supply in Montreal very bad. The surrounding conditions were so complicated that a careful study of the question was needed. Prof. C. E. Marshall, of Amherst College, said that many cows in the New England states were producing at a loss, since they did not produce about 6,000 pounds of milk per annum. As things are at present, he concluded, the dairyman who produces milk any cleaner than the dirtiest the market will take, is either a philanthropist or a fool.

Other speakers during the two days were Dr. Walter King, of Detroit, on hog cholera; Dr. Taylor, of Dr. W. J. MacNeal, of New York, on Pellagra; Dr. Gurd, of Montreal; Dr. Schofield, of Toronto; Dr. Mary Lawson, and Drs. B. K. Richards, L. E. Clare, Joseph Leidy, of Philadelphia; J. P. Simonds, J. A. Sperry, L. J. Klier, I. T. Clark, W. L. Dodd, and F. M. Meader, and Miss Jean Broadhurst, of the University of Columbia.

The annual dinner of the Society was held at the University.

This is the first convention of the Society ever held in Canada.

The annual report of the governors, principals, and fellows of the University of McGill explains the need of many improvements which the institution does not possess the means to satisfy.

There is need of a faculty house to serve as a central meeting place on the campus for all the members of the large and growing staff of the university.

But this requirement, like that for an administrative building, must go unfilled.

The lack of funds does not only affect the university proper; the governors have found that the student body also is suffering under the present conditions, and urge the necessity of a residence before the consideration of a gymnasium, or a new stadium.

"The unattractive character of residential accommodation in the city of Montreal has for long been a great drawback to the comfort and convenience of the student body, and a great impairment to their social and academic well-being," says the report.

The report says, however, that great progress has been made in the matter of improving financial conditions at McGill. But the university is accumulating approximately equal results with a revenue very much smaller than that enjoyed by many sister institutions. Harvard, for instance, has an income four times as great as McGill.

"Expelled for not drinking beer," is the surprising heading in the newspapers telling of a cable from Griefswald, Germany, which states that because of criticism of the college drinking customs as illustrated in a typical "beer evening" celebration, one student was sentenced to three days' confinement in the university dungeon, two others were expelled, and four more were summoned to trial before the university officials. The despatch is all the more startling because of the recent terrific indictments against alcohol by some of the most brilliant scientists and professors of Germany.

MAY EXTEND LAW COURSE

Three Years of Lectures and One Year of Apprenticeship is Suggested.

At the next meeting of the General Council of the Quebec Bar argument pro and con will be heard on a motion asking for the extension of the course at McGill, for law students to four years.

Leading members of the Bar have expressed their opinion that the three-year term is too short. Under the new arrangement, it is proposed to allow three years of study in a university, and a fourth under apprenticeship.

Those who now serve apprenticeship for four years, and pass examinations, would probably have to take a five-year course in law offices.

Mr. Fabre-Survery, K.C., lecturer in Civil Procedure here, says it would take two years for an act passed through the Quebec Legislature on the question, to be put into effect.

CAMPUS RINK OPENS TODAY

Lack of Water Prevented Earlier Opening.

FUN FOR FUSSERS

Proposed Tax Will Prevent Some Classes Using Rink for Time Being.

Despite the fact that water has been at a premium all through the holidays, the campus rink opens to-day. About ten days ago, the men in charge began to prepare the field for flooding. They succeeded admirably but another delay came when the city was deprived of water for a period of six or eight days. This naturally put a stop to all the work then being done, and the final flooding of the rink seemed for a time a matter of dire uncertainty.

When Friday came and there was still no water, it looked as though the rink would not be open when college commenced again. But Saturday morning revealed a different state of affairs, and Jimmie and his assistants were able at last to cover the allotted area.

Class hockey practices will be commenced at once, that is, provided the $25 tax is forthcoming. Some classes of course have decided not to pay this off-hand, and some arrangements will have to be made in this regard in the near future.

Between four and seven each afternoon the fusers will no doubt gather at the rink. It is expected that a number of McGill men who have been resorting to the M. A. A. A. during the holidays to engage in this pastime will now be seen exclusively at the McGill rink.

Tickets for the rink may be purchased from the various classes hockey representatives, and will doubtless be much in demand during the day.

Important Papers Read, Officers Elected, General Business Completed and Places of Interest Visited.

Though the attendance was not as large as was expected, the fifteenth general meeting of the Archaeological Institute of America took place in the Physics Building on Friday and Saturday last.

Many eminent scholars gathered from various parts of the continent. The discoveries of the year were related, new theories were restated, and old ones controverted. The majority of the papers were of a very technical nature, but several proved of general interest.

The address of welcome was presented by Principal Peterson, and replied to by Dean West, of Princeton. Various places of interest were visited by delegates, among them being the Art Gallery and the Redpath Museum. Sir William and Lady Van Horne held a reception in honor of the visitors at 5 p.m., Saturday.

At a special meeting of the Canadian council of the American Institute of Archaeology Saturday afternoon, officers were elected for the year. STUDENTS COMPELLED TO LIVE ALMOST HOBO LIFE DURING THE XMAS HOLIDAYS

No Tap Water Between Christmas and New Year's Day.—Shaves at Home Were a Luxury.—Bell Ringers Distribute Water Enough for Bare Necessities.—Cold Houses in Cold Weather.—Use of Reservoir Water By McGill.—Lights Not Available Frequently in University Buildings.—Union Foundation Work Was Delayed.

Interesting experiences were had by the McGill students who stayed in Montreal during the holiday season, due to the water famine in the city. There was no tap water to be had in any of the McGill buildings during the season, and the janitors of most of the buildings were compelled to let their furnaces down for a day or two, while the boilers were filled with snow water.

The break in the water conduit into Montreal occurred the morning after Christmas. When they woke up December 26, people began to feel how cold winter weather could be. Plumbers were called to disconnect hot water systems from furnace boilers, so that at least the heating of the buildings could be resumed.

Students appeared at the Union for the next few days, generally in an unshaven condition. Some had had difficulty in obtaining enough cold water to wash themselves the way they would like.

In this situation the Y.M.C.A. proved an island of hope. Here water is obtained from an artesian well beneath the swimming tank, and many students found their way down Drummond street between Christmas and New Year's.

At the Union it became necessary to close the lavatories. The fires in the furnaces were reduced, and the reading rooms were cold for a time. The work on the Union foundation made the work of heating the structure more difficult than it otherwise would have been and the attendants on one of the coldest days suffered from the cold.

It became necessary to close the dining-room and grill-room until water could be obtained. The electric lights could be used only partly, since the McGill power house also soon ran out of power. The boilers of the engine which is used in connection with the Union foundation work were fed with snow.

The McGill buildings, on the other side of Sherbrooke Street, fared better. They were able to take advantage of their connection with the reservoir, to keep the fires going. At the Presbyterian College scarcely any ill effects were felt save the absence of tap water, until the break in the conduit had been repaired. It was then found that in one of the rooms a break had occurred in the heating apparatus, and this room was well flooded.

Lectures in the chemistry building were temporarily suspended because the water and light needed could not be supplied.

The greatest danger was from fire.

A shaft was sunk in one corner of the McGill grounds, near the main entrance, connecting with an underground pipe from the C.N.R. tunnel. Water at 80 pounds pressure was drawn from it, so that McGill was in a safer condition from danger of fire than most of the buildings in the upper part of Montreal.

Before New Year's Day, however, the authorities in both the Union and the building bordering the campus had well adjusted themselves to conditions. Employees of the city, with sleighs laden with casks of water, drove around the streets, ringing auction bells and crying "water." From these and from the plentiful supply of snow which had collected around the buildings water to meet emergencies and to bring the normal supply of heat into the furnace pipes was obtained.

The most important result as far as the University was concerned was the delay in the repairing of the foundations of the Union. The piers which are being placed under the kitchen are scarcely completed, while the other piers will not be finished for some time yet. The kitchen is practically exposed to the open air while the work on the southern pier is going on.

The campus rink will be open today.

GEORGE HODGSON

George Hodgson, world's champion swimmer, representing McGill, equalled the Canadian record of 58 3-5 seconds in the hundred yards event at the Canadian Indoor Championship Meet, held at the M.A.A.A., December 15. He established that record at the Olympic trials, held at the M.A.A.A. bath on Friday, May 31, and Saturday, June 1, 1912. He also, in the meet, won the 220 yards Canadian championship, time, 2 min., 15 2-5 sec. In each case, Frank McGill, of the M.A.A.A., came second. In the relay race, McGill ran second place, being next to the M.A.A.A., and defeating the Y.M.C.A. McGill team:—Hodgson, McKean, Baldwin and Draper. Hodgson says he will not go in for much swimming until the time comes for the preparation for the Olympic games.

HOCKEY PRACTICES IN OTTAWA AND MONTREAL DURING HOLIDAYS

Many New Men Showing Up Well and Old Players Rounding Into Shape.—Daniel Roberts Has Big Turn-Out in the Capital City.

HOCKEY PRACTICE IN OTTAWA.

The McGill hockey team has turned out twice to practice for the approaching Intercollegiate games. Although most of the players were not in town during the holidays, still those who possessed any hockey ability turned out to get into shape for the opening game next week with Queens.

All the other colleges, represented in the league, have already had a far longer training season than the Red and White, but with the good ice that has come, there ought to be little fear among the students as to the players getting in shape for the opening fixture.

On Monday, the players spending their holidays in Montreal, held a good hard work-out, about fifteen men in all turning out. This was indeed a very creditable showing. Among these players was Eric Parsons, formerly of Westmount Academy and also playing with the M.A.A.A. in the Interprovincial Union last year. Parsons showed by his exhibition at the practice, that he will make all of the candidates for positions hustle in order to beat him out for one of the places. He is fast on his feet and also a very clever stickhandler, and has already gained experience.

Mulcair and DeMuth also showed class at this practice, though some of the others to turn out were rather inexperienced. Mulcair looks to be a good forward man, as he is a good stickhandler and also a fairly fast skater. Richardson was the only goalkeeper to turn out, and although he hardly showed up to great advantage at this practice, he deserves a good deal of watching.

While these players were working at the Arena, a squad of about twenty-five held a practice at the Arena in Ottawa. Most of the players who figured on last year's septette, turned out, while some of the new material looks very promising. Don Brophy, the football player, showed that he plays hockey as well as football, and it would not be a surprise if Don made the hockey team. He is fast and is also a very tricky player. Masson, Hooper, Kendall, Mann, Davidson, Wilson, Riley were some of the players at this practice. Coach Laurie Roberts was in charge of the players.

On Wednesday afternoon the locals held another workout at the local Arena, and although only a handful of players turned out some good work was done. Most of the time was spent in forming some sort of team play, and after this the players contented themselves with shooting the puck around. Parsons, Mulcair and DeMuth again showed up to advantage, while Armitage and Fraser showed good form at times. Armitage looks a promising player, and even if he fails to make the team, he should make a valuable "sub."

This afternoon there will be another practice at the Arena and it is generally anticipated that some forty odd men will turn out to get into condition and also to strive for a position on one or other of the teams.

E. CUSHING WON CUP AT M'GILL INDOOR TRACK MEET LAST MONTH

He Took Thirteen Points, While Sutherland and Macdougall got Second and Third Places.—Moore First in Half-Mile and Mile.

At McGill's first indoor athletic championships, held at the Central Y. M. C. A. E. Cushing won the all-round championship and with it the silver cup given by Dr. Harvey. Cushing took thirteen points, while Sutherland was second with eleven, and Macdougall third with nine.

Cushing's time of 1 min. 5 secs. when he won the 440 was the best of the afternoon, but he had beaten this by 2-5 seconds when he won his heat in the trials the previous Wednesday. Fast time was also made in the 20 yard dash, the final of which was won by Jeffrey. Moore won the half mile race, and also took the mile event, Mills and Lowry the other two, who were qualified to run, not appearing. Cushing's win in the running high jump and Macdougall's in the broad, were the features of the field events. Sutherland won the shot putt. The full results were:

20 yard dash — First heat, Legault, time 3 1-5. Second heat, Hoyey, time, 2. Third heat, Jeffrey, time, 3 1-5. Final, 1, Jeffrey; 2, Hoyey; 3, Legault. Time, 2 3-5.

The only Miller Cup game played was at Westminster, where the Welsh defeated the Royal Citizens by 12 pts. to nil. Last week's game was played as a friendly match. Burr, Underhill and Moffatt were the scorers. In the first half the Royal Citizens held the Welsh team to one try, but a couple of passing bouts and a forward rush each brought a score in the second half.

SOME HOCKEY RESULTS

The hockey team of Ottawa University defeated the Harvard University septette at Syracuse last Friday, by a score of 2 to 0. Harvard was unable to solve the defense of the Canadians.

Cleveland Athletic Club, 5; Queen's College, Kingston, Ont., 2, at Cleveland, New Year's Day.

Princeton defeated Varsity at Boston, New Year's Day, in a rough game, outskating the Canadians. Toronto's only score was made by Jupp, after a sensational dash from mid-ice. The score was 5—1.

Varsity swamped the Argos, of Toronto, December 20, when they piled up a score of 11 to 3. The first half ended 1—1.

Varsity alternately fielded her Intercollegiate and her O. H. A. team, while the Argos changed their's every fifteen minutes. Mostly boys, they were unable to keep up the pace.

At New York, New Year's Eve, Varsity won from Ottawa College, 5 to 1, thus winning the Fellows Intercollegiate trophy, Queen's having been previously defeated. McGill did not enter the competition this year.

SATURDAY NIGHT'S HOCKEY RESULTS.

At the Montreal Arena Ontarios in brilliant finish succeeded in tying score with Canadians. Result 3-3.

In Toronto, Toronto overcame a big lead at the start and the game closed with Toronto 5, and Quebec 3.

At Ottawa, splendid goal keeping of Leseur saved Capitals from Wanderers' attacks. Score: Ottawa, 3, Wanderers 0.

VARSITY TO FORFEIT FINE TO THE UNION

For Failure to File Certificates of Registration in Intercollegiate Track Meet at Kingston

Varsity has decided to forfeit the $90 fine imposed by the Canadian Intercollegiate Union for failure to send in certificates covering the athletes performing at the Intercollegiate meet in Kingston. McGill will not claim the championship, which will probably remain a blank in the books. Varsity says the secretary, in error, filled out the blanks, but instead of forwarding them to the instituted authorities, took them with him to Kingston, where they were refused. They were not forwarded to Prof. McLeod within the necessary ten days allowed by the rules. It is thought that Joe Bricker, the Varsity pole vaulter, will be given credit for his record jump.

Recent agitation of the question of the regulation of student dancing at the University of Kansas has caused a decided slump in the attendance at down-town dances. According to a ruling of the University Council, no student may attend a dance at which a general price of admission is charged.

PROSPECTS

Back to work describes the situation at McGill to-day. Refreshed mentally and physically, buoyant in spirit and with renewed zest, students are gathering from the various centres where they have been privileged to spend the holidays. They have to look forward to the duties of the final session of the college year.

Some, of course, return only to find that their presence at the University can be dispensed with for the rest of the term, others there are who face the unpleasant prospect of examinations. But despite this, work will go on and hockey and other outside attractions will still occupy the attention of all. What 1914 has in store for us it might be unwise to predict, yet we look forward to doing something in hockey. Practices during the holidays have naturally not been entirely satisfactory, but such as they were they lend us encouragement, and with good ice and snappy work on the part of those trying for positions on the team, McGill should make no mean showing in the Intercollegiate League.

REPORTERS REQUIRED

The Daily needs twelve more reporters. During the past term we introduced several innovations, but laid the work of carrying them out upon already overburdened shoulders. This year we propose to add several other features. We must have men to take charge of them.

The Daily must be modelled after the fashion of a city daily. There are certain student activities the news end of which must be kept constantly covered, and over each of which one reporter should be set aside to keep a watchful eye. Each department must be the responsibility of one man.

With our present staff, systemization in such detail is impossible. With twelve more reporters, it is easily possible. Two or three afternoons, or the same number of evenings, weekly, is the time such a staff, with the exception of the editor, would have to work.

Those who have already engaged in newspaper work, or have been on school magazines before, are asked to come forward and to take charge of the news end of a student activity. There is room for assistance in the sport, literary, exchanges, society-meetings and night-editing departments.

Men from all classes and faculties are wanted; but especially the requirements extend to the Freshmen and Sophomores. A response from this quarter will mean that when the present editors leave, the Daily can enter upon a new season without any of the old men being missed.

There is a certain glamor about work in a newspaper, caused largely by the opportunity presented to speak on equal terms with men who are looked up to in the university. Those who have joined at the beginning of the school year have felt the glamor, but they have also found that a position on the Daily staff means a responsibility as well—a responsibility to keep the work well covered, to prevent scoops being made by the city papers, and to furnish "scoops" themselves. All applicants for positions must, therefore, feel sure that they have the perseverance to keep the work up.

Those intending to do newspaper work in the summer will find experience on the Daily invaluable. Prospective novelists, or writers of any description, will find how much their writing will improve in strength and conciseness, after two months and a half with their college magazine.

Short stories, with a local bearing if possible, poetry and miscellaneous articles of interest to a proper proportion of the student body are also required for the Daily. We are not only a newspaper, but a college magazine, and as such must touch on the things of intellectual as well as of merely news interest.

The Daily is at present one of the biggest college dailies on the American continent. It contains twice the news space allowed in the biggest college daily on the other side of the border. It is earning a reputation which must be kept up, and we want your help to increase that reputation.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Daily opens next Saturday an Alumni Column, which will appear weekly. All those who have friends who have graduated from McGill University, or any of her affiliated colleges, will confer a favor by sending a note to the Daily Office, stating where these men are, and what work they are at present engaged in. With the Round About the College column, this is perhaps the feature of the Daily which depends for its success almost absolutely on the friends of the Daily in the student body, and the teaching staff.

For the information of those of our readers who may have been puzzled as to the origin of an article entitled, "Children's Corner," which appeared in the last issue of the Daily before the holidays, we should like to state that Dr. Leacock's name was inadvertently omitted in the heading.

The Daily wishes to convey to its readers the season's greetings and would assure them that no efforts will be spared in making the paper increasingly attractive throughout the rest of the season.

First Dance to Be Open to All Undergraduates. — 250 Couples Present.

The McGill Union Christmas Dance was held Friday evening in the large hall of the McGill Union, being attended by one hundred and twenty-five couples. The majority of these were students and co-eds. This dance was the first dance this year to be open to all students of the university, and the younger students attended in exceedingly large numbers. The floor of the dancing hall at the Union was in the best possible condition, and all the people who attended the dance were loud in their praises of it. One thing was of great service to the dancers and that was the fact that the water was turned on shortly before the supper.

The patronesses of the dance were: Miss Hurlbatt, Miss Cameron, Miss Greterin, Mrs. McDonald, Mrs. Keay, Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Ludlow. Those present were:

Several tables joined end to end in the dining room and decorated with suitable greenery, made the banqueting board. The bursting of bon-bons placed at each plate started the fun, since it was found that each contained not only absurd little paper caps, but such noisy prizes as whistles, and funny ones as toy packs of cards and baby mascots. Amidst chatter and enjoyment, full justice was done to the dinner, with its real Yorkshire pudding conclusion.

It was found when dancing commenced that most of the girls are becoming proficient in the science of dancing the tango and one-step. Before the evening ended a number of the men students, under the able teaching of Mme. Greterin and the girls, had also advanced far towards the Canadian tango.

Miss Hurlbatt, Miss Cameron, Mme. Greterin, Miss Lichtenstein and Miss Cartwright, of the teaching staff, were hostesses at a most enjoyable entertainment.

As a Christmas attraction at the University Settlement, Dec. 20, Dr. Albertson read from Dickens' "Christmas Carol." He is a well known and very popular reader of Dickens.

Dr. J. S. Adams, granting an interview upon his return from a tour of the western part of the United States, where he made a much discussed speech at Denver, said the proper way to abolish a slum is to drive a boulevard through it.

The Sunday afternoon sacred concert given by the Students' Orchestra on December 14, proved an unqualified success. A large and appreciative audience was present. The collection amounted to slightly over thirty dollars.

The McGill Officers' Training Corps held a reception New Year's Day, at which Capt. McKergow and Lt.-Col. Jeffrey presided. This is in accordance with a time-honored custom among Montreal Armouries.

At the Arts Undergraduate Banquet at Toronto, December 16, which was addressed by Sir Wilfred Laurier, H. Donald Henry, McGill's representative, urged the support of Toronto undergraduates for the Varsity, that is now given the Daily, at McGill.

The annual meeting of the Intercollegiate Rugby Union, which was to have been held at Queen's University, December 20, was postponed on account of the holidays. It will take place late in January, probably on either the 17th, or the 24th inst.

CHRISTMAS EVE "AT HOME" IN R.V.C.

Resident Staff at Home to Out-of-Town Men Students, Whose Lot Through Holidays Was Cast in Montreal—Banquet, Dance and Visit to Notre Dame Cathedral.

When Miss Hurlbatt, the resident staff of the Royal Victoria College, and the R. V. C. girls turned missionaries and were at home Christmas Eve to the out-of-town students, a very happy time was had. The entertainment consisted of a splendid spread banquet, dancing, and finally a pilgrimage to Notre Dame Cathedral, where midnight mass was being celebrated.

Several tables joined end to end in the dining room and decorated with suitable greenery, made the banqueting board. The bursting of bon-bons placed at each plate started the fun, since it was found that each contained not only absurd little paper caps, but such noisy prizes as whistles, and funny ones as toy packs of cards and baby mascots. Amidst chatter and enjoyment, full justice was done to the dinner, with its real Yorkshire pudding conclusion.

That men do not come to college primarily for athletics but mainly through the influence of alumni and undergraduates is indicated by statements collected from every member of last year's freshman class at Dartmouth. Three hundred and eighty-one men were interviewed as to their reasons for entering Dartmouth in preference to any other college, and their answers were tabulated as follows: Influence of Dartmouth graduates and undergraduates, 141; location of the college, 46; size of the college as midway between the small college and the university, 12; influence of relatives in or out of college, 42; plan of admission, 18; reputation and spirit, 15; lower expense of education at Dartmouth, 10; Thayer School, 13; Tuck School, 11; athletics, 5; miscellaneous and combined reasons, 73.

Prof. Keay and Dr. Evans of McGill were among the entertainers at the annual smoker of the Technology Club of Lower Canada, in the American Club Building, December 13. Prof. Keay described the new $1,000,000 buildings of the Massachusetts "Tech."

The McGill Intermediates were beaten by the M.A.A.A. team in the opening fixture of the Intermediate series of the Quebec Basketball Association, played in the M.A.A.A. club house Wednesday night. McGill led in the first half, but the second half ended 29 to 27 for her opponents. In the Junior game, McGill had an easy win.

Principal Peterson in an address before "The Nomads' Club," December 16, on "Poetry in the Schools," said that in this material age it was generally considered a waste of time to read poetry, and the fact that there were so many things to be learned, generally precluded any extensive culture of it, by the younger generation.

Dean Moyses, before the St. James Literary Club, Dec. 18, deplored the use of slang. He said in the three kinds of vocabulary used in Canada, that spoken before an audience; that read carefully; and that spoken on the streets, the last abounded most largely in slang. Toronto was often called Tronto, Tronter, Troner, and Trono. He said the habit was due rather to vulgarity than ignorance.

Under the direction of McGill University, a course of twenty lectures covering ten weeks will be held in the Royal Victoria College for social workers. The lectures will cover the general principles of public health, and will be delivered by Professor T. A. Starkey, Stenochona professor of hygiene at McGill. The lectures will be given on Tuesday and Friday of each week, and will commence on January 13.

NEW YEAR'S EVE IN THE COUNTRY.

Old Year, to-night
While sleigh bells tinkle music o'er the snow
And weathered farmers, now their women's shopping's done,
Drive through the starry twilight hastening home;
While yet yon treetops on the western hill,
Tangled in sunset, sway, and while
We still have hours in which to say good-bye, Old Year,
For blessings various
We thank thee now
Old Year, thy seasons moved one after one mysteriously,
They came and went in beauty on this earth of ours.

Thy dimpled spring brought violets
To woodland places where our eager eyes
Were quick for thy beneficence.
Thy summer of blue streams
And shaded noons, dusk evens and still trees
Was sweet to us.
Thy autumn blisses of the fruited field,
Of poppy wonder and the solemn bee,
We loved.

Thy winter hush, Old Year,
Thy silence, as the stars,
Old Betelgeuse, young Rigel
And the Plough, kept watch o'er whitened fields at night,
Thy winter ministry was peace to us.

Old Year, to-night we pause,
Thankful in love of years on earth,
Thankful for added joy,
Thankful for Time's beatitudes.
—Arthur W. Phelps.

OLD MEDICAL BLDG. SCENE OF SMALL FIRE

Damage Inconsiderable and Covered By Insurance.

A fire occurred in the drug department of the old Medical Building during the holidays. The damage done was inconsiderable, and will not prove a source of inconvenience to medical students.

Fortunately this fire occurred before the water was shut off in the city mains, otherwise there might have been grave danger to the entire building. The damage, which was in the neighborhood of $500, is covered by insurance.

RENDEZVOUS.

By Henry Van Dyke.
I count that friendship little worth
Which has not many things untold.
Great longings that no words can hold,
And passion-secrets waiting birth.

Along the slender wires of speech
Some message from the heart is sent;
But who can tell the whole that's meant?
Our dearest thoughts are out of reach.

I have not seen thee, tho mine eyes
Hold now the image of thy face:
In vain, through form, I strive to trace
The soul I love: that deeper lies.

A thousand accidents control
Our meeting here. Clasp hand in hand,
And swear to meet me in that land
Where friends hold converse soul to soul.

WITH THE WITS.

In Mexico all convicts and jailbirds are sent to the army and are classed as volunteers. In a small town a petty officer gathered up a bunch of these and sent them in to his superior officer with this note: "I send you herewith fifty volunteers. Please send back the ropes."—"Every-body's."

HIS MAJESTY'S.

The engagement of Margaret Anglin, noted Canadian actress, at His Majesty's theatre during the week beginning Monday, January 12, in a series of complete Shakespearean revivals, will be an event of unusual importance.

Miss Anglin will offer an attractive repertory embracing "Twelfth Night" which will be given on Monday and Thursday nights and Wednesday matinee, "As You Like It" on Tuesday night, "The Taming of the Shrew" on Wednesday and Saturday nights and "Anthony and Cleopatra" on Friday night and Saturday matinee. The seat and box sale for all performances will open on next Thursday morning.

The remarkable interest that is already being manifested in Miss Anglin's engagement, is proof that the so-called "legitimate" and poetic drama has a firm hold on theatre-goers of all classes and that vast body of playgoers who have been weaned away from the theatre by a diet of grand opera, will be won again and be in evidence during Miss Anglin's engagement at His Majesty's.

That the company in support of Miss Anglin is one of extraordinary excellence is attested by the long list of well-known Shakespearean players on its roster. Among the principals are Fuller Melish, Ian MacLaren, Eric Blind, Ruth Holt Bonicault, Sidney Greenstreet, Wallace Widcombe, Lilian Thurgate, Max Montrose, Marion Carter, Florence Wollerson, Max Fisher, Harry Barfoot, E. Y. Backus, Margery Card and others numbering forty-two people.

The scenic equipment, stage accessories, costumes and lighting effects of Miss Anglin's productions are complete in every last detail and represent a year's time in preparation. All productions were designed by Livingston Platt, for a number of years technical director for David Belasco and for several years a student in Europe observing the stage methods of Reinhardt, Gordon Craig, and other innovators. Miss Anglin's engagement promises to be attractive.
